CONSTANTINOPLE, (in Turky) September 3.

THE Queen of Hongary's Miniſter has lately preſented a long Memorial to the Grand Vizir, in which is amply ſet forth the happy Succeſs which has attended her Majeſty's Arms; and on the other Hand, is lively repreſented the Faith to be confided in the French Court, and their Violation of the moſt ſolemn Treaties. Our Prime Miniſter has diſcover'd on this Occaſion an inexpreſſible Joy. Matters are far from being accommodated with the Schach Nadir (Kouli Kan, Emperor of Perſia;) on the contrary, 'tis fear'd the Flame with that Monarch will ſhortly break out with more Violence than ever.

Moſcow, (in Ruſſia) September 7.

Her Imperial Majeſty has reſolv'd to negociate a final Peace with Sweden, under the Mediation of their Britannick and Daniſh Majeſty's, of which Advice has been given to both Courts as well as that of Sweden As it is neceſſary that the Preſumptive Heir of the Empire ſhould be of the Greek Church, her Imperial Majeſty has been pleaſed to direct the Archbiſhop of Novogrod, and the Metropolitan of Rezan, to draw up an exact Scheme of the Points in Difference between the Lutherans and the Greeks, that the Subjects of the Empire may be the better ſatisfied with his Highneſs the Duke of Holſtein Gottorp's profeſſing himſelf of the Greek Religion, in order to his being ſolemnly declared Heir to the Ruſſian Diadem, in caſe her Imperial Majeſty ſhould die without Iſſue; a Thing ſince reſolved on, and which will be ſpeedily put in Execution.

Peterſburgh, [in Ruſſia] September 9.

The Swediſh Commiſſaries, who conſer with ours at Wyborg, go in good Earneſt about the great Work of Peace, which is ſaid to be already as good as concluded; and this ſeems probable enough, when we reflect on the Diſpoſition of the Dyet at Stockholm, the bad Succeſs of the Swediſh Arms in Finland, and the Articles their Troops have accepted in that Province. It is reported that Major General Wrangel is expected here, in order to put the finiſhing Hand to the Accommodation. The Road to Peace is already rendered pretty ſmooth, the Empreſs not caring to inſiſt upon all that the Succeſs of her Arms might give her a Right to, becauſe ſhe has other Views which the Swediſh War has hitherto diverted her from.

A Letter from Veldt Marſhal Laſcy, dated the 30th ult. from the Camp at Helſingfors, brings the agreeable News of the Surrender of the Fortreſſes of Nyſlot and Tamfus (in Finland.)

Mr. Koafouth, the Daniſh Ambaſſador, has ſent back the laſt Courier he has received from Copenhagen, and it is ſaid, that her Imperial Majeſty accepts the King of Denmark's Mediation between Ruſſia and Sweden, under certain Reſtrictions.

Peterſburgh, Sept 14. Count Laſcy has ſent to Court the Letter of Submiſſion which he received from the Province of Finland, the Purport of which is as follows: 'Her 'Majeſty, the moſt powerful Empreſs of all Ruſſia, has, 'through her Royal Clemency, been pleaſed to ſignify, 'that as the Inhabitants of Finland, far from having excited the War which her Majeſty has been under an unwilling Neceſſity of ſupporting againſt Sweden, have rather ſtrongly oppoſed it by their Deputies at the Dyet, 'ſhe would take that Province under her Imperial Protection: Of which Protection we have felt the powerful 'Effects during the whole Courſe of the War; and if any 'Thing has happen'd contrary to the Intention of her Majeſty, we ought to look upon it as the neceſſary Conſequence of the Rapidity with which her Arms have made their Way thro' the whole Province, and alſo to admire the Moderation which you have ſhewn in the midſt of 'theſe happy Succeſſes. The Proſperity of the Arms of 'her Majeſty is to us a ſtrong Proof of the Divine Protection, and we ardently pray Heaven to ſhed its Benedictions upon her Majeſty, to the End that ſhe may carry 'the Glory and Felicity of the Empire of Ruſſia to its higheſt Degree of Perfection: And as we have reſolved to 'ſend our Deputies to bear to the Foot of her Imperial 'Throne the Vows of our whole Dutchy, we humbly beſeech your Excellency to grant ſuitable Paſports.'

Peterſburgh, Sept. 16. M. Nolcken, Counſellor in the Regency of Sweden, has paſſed through this City going to Moſcow, in order to ſettle all Matters that remain undecided It is not doubted but that the Negociations between the two Crowns will be ſucceſsful, and a Peace ſpeedily concluded; for the Swediſh Priſoners of War have received Orders to prepare for their Return Home The Admiralty has ſent Orders to the Admiral to bring back the large Ships to Cronſtadt, and leave only a few Frigates and Gallies in the Ports of Finland.

Stockholm, (in Sweden) September 28.

All Things here receive daily a more cloudy Aſpect, and it is now very evident that this Dyet will not ſeparate before a ſolid Peace is concluded, a thorough Enquiry made into the Conduct of the War, and a new Settlement takes Place as to Domeſtick Affairs. Perhaps too the Succeſſion may be ſettled. There are at preſent three Parties; one for the Duke of Holſtein, who inſinuate that by raiſing him to the Throne they may regain a Part of their loſt Dominions; another which eſpouſes the Intereſt of a certain German Prince powerfully allied, and who conſequently might be able to reſtore the Affairs of Sweden; the Third are a ſort of Independant Patriots, who do not ſeem to trouble themſelves much about the Succeſſion The Generality of the People wiſh well to the Duke of Holſtein, and even ſuch as have ſhewn the greateſt Zeal for rendering this an Elective Kingdom, ſeem diſpoſed to make Choice of him, in Hopes of recovering ſome of the Provinces diſmembred from the Swediſh Monarchy by the laſt War and the preſent It is generally believed that Count Lewenhaupt and General Bodenbroke are in this City, but remain concealed for Fear of the Populace; and we are the rather induced to believe this, becauſe a Court-Martial has been appointed for their Trial, at the Head of which is Veldt Marſhal Hamilton, and this Court is to ſit in a few Days. The Heats which reign among the People, put the Miniſtry under intolerable Difficulties; for as on the one Hand, the offering Violence to theſe Generals would throw an indelible Bleminſh on the Government; ſo, on the other, the Care taken of their Perſons in made the Subject of many Miſconſtructions.

Stockholm, October 6. It is by Order of the Dyet that Count Lewenhaupt and General Bodenbroke have been put under Arreſt. The 3d Inſtant the Commiſſaries appointed to enquire into their Conduct in Finland, went to their Houſes, and interrogated them for three Hours together. Mr Guy Dickens, the Britiſh Ambaſſador, puſhes on vigorouſly the Negociation he is charged with.

Stockholm, October 8. The Secret Committee, after mature Deliberation, thought proper to acquaint his Majeſty, that the beſt Advice they could give him, was to apply himſelf to his Britannick Majeſty, and deſire his Interpoſition at the Court of Moſcow, to which his Majeſty readily agreed, and iſſued his Orders accordingly. The firſt Time Count Lewenhaupt and General Bodenbroke appear'd before the Committee, the latter was firſt interrogated; who would give no other Anſwer than this, 'I have obey'd my 'General faithfully, and here he is ready to atteſt it.' Count Lewenhaupt's Anſwer was, 'I have followed my 'Inſtructions

'Inſtructions religiouſly, here they are, and this is my 'Journal.'

Madrid, [in Spain] September 15.

The Sixteen Battalions which are intended to reinforce the Army of Don Philip in Savoy, have received Orders to continue their March for Barcelona, ſo as to be there by the 27th of this Month. This Body of Troops are all of them new cloath'd, and the Regiments perfectly compleat. We are extremely impatient here, to ſee what Meaſures the Duke de Montemar will take, whether he will actually return hither, as his Friends give out, or whether he will retire to Rome, or to ſome Place in France, 'till the Storm is a little blown over. His Spouſe and Daughter labour inceſſantly to ſet Things right, but as yet to little Purpoſe, ſince their Majeſties have iſſued an Order, forbidding him, in caſe he ſhould land in Spain, to approach the Place of their Reſidence by 20 Leagues. He is charged with ſuffering his Army to be in Want of all Things, notwithſtanding that there was always in the Hands of the Treaſurer of the Army at Genoa, not only their full Subſiſtence Money, but alſo three Months Pay in Advance. Conſidering the Nature of this Charge, and the Reputation of the Officer againſt whom it is advanced, it may, perhaps, be a prudent and neceſſary Caution in the Miniſters to hinder the Duke from approaching the Court; ſince otherwiſe, perhaps, he might acquit himſelf at their Expence, and make as good a Retreat in Spain, as even his Enemies allow he did in Italy.

Bologna, [in Italy] October 5.

Time has ſhewn the Falſity of thoſe Reports which flew about, concerning a Difference between her Majeſty of Hungary and the King of Sardinia, ſince the Piedmonteſe Troops are in full March to join the Count de Traun, who has already drawn together 9000 Foot and 3000 Horſe, all regular Troops, beſides 4000 Huſſars. He is encamped at Buon Porto, where he expects with Impatience 5000 Piedmonteſe from the Modeneſe. The Spaniſh General Count de Gage pretends to have Orders from his Court to reduce the Mantuan, and gives out that he ſhall ſhortly march to execute them; tho' it is generally believed that he would be glad to remain in the Neighbourhood of Rimini, without advancing a Step farther; and it is even ſaid that Application has been made to the Court of Rome, to interpoſe with their Hungarian and Sardinian Majeſties to that Purpoſe.

Genoa, [in Italy] October 6.

Laſt Sunday an Engliſh Man of War arrived in this Port, and we hear, had juſt before taken a conſiderable Booty from a French Merchant ſhip from Cadiz. We likewiſe hear, that an Engliſh Privateer has ſeiz'd a French Tartane coming from the Canaries, richly laden. 'Tis ſaid, that the Sea is cover'd with Engliſh Men of War; ſo we are in continual Apprehenſion of another Viſit from ſome of Admiral Mathews's Squadron, by which we ſhall have our Proviſion deſtroy'd if they ſurmiſe it to be deſtin'd for the Spaniards.

The Maſter of a French Felucca juſt arriv'd from Toulon, brings a Confirmation that the Commandant of the Spaniſh Squadron has receiv'd an Expreſs from his Court, with reiterated Orders to put to Sea forthwith and return into the Ports of Spain; and that in Purſuance of theſe Orders he had got his Ships out into the Road, except Two that were not yet careen'd.

An Engliſh Fleet, conſiſting of 24 Sail, ſtill lies at Anchor off the Iſles of Hieres: A few Billanders, Fireſhips, and other light Veſſels, with three Men of War, are gone to Port Mahon to be carren'd.

His Sardinian Majeſty arrived at Moutiers on the 4th, attended by Mr d'Ormea, and the Britiſh and Hungarian Reſidents. Next Day he march'd for Chamberry with his Army conſiſting of 16,000 choice Troops. Upon this the Enemy began immediately to abandon Savoy. The Infant Don Philip, who was in the Rear when his Forces enter'd this Country, was now in the Front, and with great Intrepidity march'd all Night, tho' it was wet and dark, at the Head of 3000 Men, in order to reach a Place of Safety. The Troops followed the Example of their Prince, and in ſpite of all the Count de Glimes's Perſuaſions marc'd at a greater Rate than was conſiſtent with Spaniſh Gravity. In a Word, they outmarch'd a great Part of their Baggage, which has fallen into the Hands of the Victors.

The following is a brief Account of the Situation of Affairs in Europe, extracted from the lateſt News-Papers. — The Empreſs (Elizabeth) of Ruſſia ſhews herſelf ſtill very much inclined to a Peace with Sweden, and has given a ſtrong Proof of her Magnanimity, upon this Occaſion, by permitting her Plenipotentiaries to accept only of Part of Finland; and ſhe has aſſured the Marquis de Botta, the Hungarian Miniſter at Petersburgh, that ſhe only waited for the Concluſion of a Peace with Sweden, in order to turn her Arms againſt her Hungarian Majeſty's Enemies, and procure her all the Satisfaction and Reparation which the Juſtice of her Cauſe merits. — The Queen of Hungary is making freſh Preparations, to renew the War with more Vigour than ever in the Spring; and has notified to Sir Thomas Robinſon, the Britiſh Ambaſſador, that far from entering into a Negociation with the French Court, ſhe was ready to declare War againſt France, whenever his Britannick Majeſty's ſhould think it proper; and that as a farther Proof of her Dependance on Great Britain, ſhe was content to put the City and Port of Oſtend into his Britannick Majeſty's Hands. Marſhal Maillebois has all along induſtriouſly avoided coming to Action with the Auſtrian Army, and it appears that his March into Bohemia, was only to procure a good Capitulation for Prague; alas! now he retreats from before Count Khevenhuller with the greateſt Precipitation, and makes great Uſe of the Nights to favour his Retreat, he has been even forc'd to march one Night with his Army up to the Knees in Mud; the Hardſhips and Fatigues that Army has endur'd is inexpreſſible; the Marſhal has at laſt reach'd Bavaria, with the Grand Duke and Count Khevenhuller at his Heels. General Baron Berenclau with the Auſtrian Army under his Command, has entirely evacuated Bavaria, and retreated into the Tyrolese; General Count Seckendorff has paſs'd the Naab and taken Poſſeſſion of Munich, (the Capital of Bavaria) Ellbogen, Landſhut, and ſeveral other important Places in that Electorate; the Conduct of Baron Berenclau is very myſterious and extraordinary, and the Views of the Auſtrians are not yet to be ſeen into; however, thus far is certain, that this News was receiv'd with great Indifference at Paris, and is not at all reliſh'd by the Court of France. Prince Lobkowitz with the Corps under his Command, has again blockaded Prague in Form, and taken Poſſeſſion of the Poſt of Milneck, he has likewiſe obliged the French Detachments that were poſted in the Neighbourhood of Prague to re-enter the City. The Diſtreſs of the French Army is ſo great, that there is not a Road which leads from Germany, but the French Soldiers have found out: Thus far for the Affairs of Germany. — The Britiſh Miniſtry greatly diſlike the Preliminary Articles of Accommodation propos'd by Spain, particularly one of them relating to Georgia, and his Britannick Majeſty will by no Means agree to a Suſpenſion of Arms, which is demanded by the Court of Madrid; ſo that at preſent the Appearances of an Accommodation ſeem to be vaniſh'd: The Court of Spain, ſince this, ſeems more ſteadily inclined to carry on the War than ever, which is attributed to the Counſels of the Court of France; it has reſolved to carry on the War in Italy, and is raiſing Recruits for the Army of Don Philip and the Count de Glimes in Dauphine, and alſo for that of the Count de Gage in Italy. — The Dutch now ſeem very much inclin'd to a Neutrality; and they, with the French are carrying on all the Trade at Lisbon. — The Court of France has ſent Orders to Rochefort, Breſt, and Toulon, to fit out all the Men of War in thoſe Ports, in order to favour the Retreat of the Spaniſh Squadron, which lies at Toulon; the French are likewiſe fortifying all their Poſſeſſions in Flanders, with all imaginable Diligence, and daily augment the Army there; it has been obſerved, that the French Miniſter at the Court of Great-Britain takes more Pains than ordinary to get into the Confidence of certain People, and aſſiduouſly endeavours to excite a Faction in England, from which the Court of France may one Time or other draw its Advantages; but it's firmly believed that the Attempts of this artful Negociation will be render'd vain; for as cunningly as he and Cardinal Fleury ſpread their Nets, they will, it's not doubted, fail of Succeſs in their Deſign, England having but too many Examples before her Eyes to become in haſte the Dupe of France. — The Piedmonteſe and Spaniſh Armies, in Italy, are in Sight of each other, and ſuffer great Hardſhips in the Camp

Camps.—The War is likely to break out again in Corsica.—The King of Great-Britain has concluded a Defensive Treaty with his Prussian Majesty, and has laid aside his Design of going to Flanders 'till the Spring, and then he will certainly go thither. On Tuesday the 16th of November, his Majesty made a most gracious Speech to both Houses of Parliament; but that is not yet come into my Hands.

We hear, that the King George, Captain Ayres, (laden with Military Stores for this Place) was to sail from England about the 10th of December last, under Convoy of a Man of War.

Last Friday Morning the Spy Man of War sail'd out of Rebellion Road, on a Cruize; with her at the same Time sail'd, eight outward-bound Merchant-Ships, in order to be convoyed off the Coast.

Mr James's Sampson, who was sentenc'd to be hang'd last Friday, is not yet executed, his Death Warrant being said to be lost.
